

Healthcare & Physician Practices

Trusted Advisors

Hancock Askew has a dedicated team comprised of executive level accountants that understand the medical profession and healthcare industry. The firm works extensively with physicians and healthcare organizations and we take the initiative to understand the special issues that businesses in this arena can face.

Experience Matters

Physicians and Healthcare organizations face a number of challenges in effectively running their business. We find that doctors and other healthcare executives want to focus on their medical practices and seek advice and assistance to keep the business aspects of their practice or organization in order and ensure that they have a complete understanding of the tax and financial implications of decisions they make.

Our firm has the expertise to provide this assistance. Hancock Askew brings extensive experience within the healthcare industry. Our firm is committed to maintaining the highest quality standards and providing a team that has extensive training, creativity and knowledge of the industry.
